On 26th of October, I turned my attention to this chapter, and hope to have it ready for Judith's birthday on 28th November. Like the other two chapters, it will be knocked off at some speed.

My brothers and sisters can probably add a lot to what I now write.

The next and final chapter will be ready, with an index to all 4 chapters I hope, for my dear wife's birthday in April 1985, and will carry what she and I know about her side.

Grandad was the much respected Minister of the Camden Road Church for very many years - his grandchildren were brought up there, aware of that respect, and a wee bit surprised that so many in the congregation there called him "Uncle" or some such family name. I will try to weave them all in - if I can! - and get our Presland links in the New Church tied up right. I expect to get lost myself - if I do, I will do some research and put a supplement in chapter four!
